Executive summary

Audit and business risk

Our audit is risk-focused. In planning our audit we have taken into account key areas of focus for financial reporting. These include:

- Tangible Capital Assets & Amortization expense,
- Accounts Payable & Accrued Liabilities,
- Salary & Wages Expense including payroll accruals

KPMG team

The KPMG team will be led by Matthew Betik. Brendan Hall will be the Senior Manager on the file assisting the audit team to complete the audit and preparation of financial statements.

Effective communication

We are committed to transparent and thorough reporting of issues to senior management, and the Board.

Audit Materiality

Materiality has been determined based on prior year total revenue which approximates $26 million dollars. We have reviewed the scope of work and have determined materiality to be $650,000 for the year ending December 31, 2017.

See page 6

Independence

We are independent and have extensive quality control and conflict checking processes in place. We provide complete transparency on all services and follow Audit Committee approved protocols.

Current developments

There are no new relevant accounting or auditing changes to be brought to your attention at this time.

This Audit Planning Report should not be used for any other purpose or by anyone other than the Board. KPMG shall have no responsibility or liability for loss or damages or claims, if any, to or by any third party as this Audit Planning Report has not been prepared for, and is not intended for, and should not be used by, any third party or for any other purpose.

Audit approach

Professional standards presume the risk of fraudulent revenue recognition and the risk of management override of controls exist in all companies.

The risk of fraudulent recognition can be rebutted, but the risk of management override of control cannot, since management is typically in a unique position to perpetrate fraud because of its ability to manipulate accounting records and prepare fraudulent financial statements by overriding controls that otherwise appear to be operating effectively.

Professional requirements	Why	Our audit approach
Fraud risk from revenue recognition	This is a presumed fraud risk	Verifying appropriate revenue cut-off to ensure revenue has been recorded in the correct year.
Fraud risk from management override of controls	This is a presumed fraud risk. We have not identified any specific additional risks of management override relating to this audit.	As the risk is not rebuttable, our audit methodology incorporates the required procedures in professional standards to address this risk. These procedures include testing of journal entries and other adjustments, performing a retrospective review of estimates and evaluating the business rationale of significant unusual transactions.

Audit approach

Other areas of focus include the following:

Other areas of focus	Why	Our audit approach
Tangible Capital Assets	Significant due to size of account and the magnitude of activities during the year (additions, disposals, etc...)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> — We will perform substantive testing over additions recorded in the year to ensure that amounts represent a capital asset addition (i.e. not reflective of repairs or maintenance which should be expensed in the period) — We will review disposals to ensure that dispositions are recorded correctly, and a gain or loss is reflected appropriately in the general ledger. — We will also perform repairs and maintenance testing to gain assurance over the completeness of capital asset additions for fiscal 2017.
Payroll Expenditures	Represents the largest class of expenditures for the Health Unit	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> — Control testing performed to ensure that individuals are paid in accordance with employment agreements. — Detailed procedures over payroll expenditures, substantive testing over accruals as at year end.
Accounts Payable	Significant due to the size of the account and the risk of completeness at year-end	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> — We will perform substantive testing to gain assurance over the existence and accuracy of payables and accruals. — In addition, we will perform a search for unrecorded liabilities to ensure that amounts paid or invoices received in 2018 that relate to 2017 have been appropriately accrued for and recorded as a liability in the general ledger as at year-end.
Cash	Significant bank balances maintained (in excess of $7M PY)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> — We will confirm directly with the entity's financial institution bank balances as at December 31, 2017 — KPMG will review management's prepared bank reconciliations and ensure amount reconciles to the general ledger balance — KPMG will perform testing on reconciling items as at December 31, 2017

Materiality

Professional standards require us to re-assess materiality at the completion of our audit based on period-end results or new information in order to confirm whether the amount determined for planning purposes remains appropriate.

Our assessment of misstatements, if any, in amounts or disclosures at the completion of our audit will include the consideration of both quantitative and qualitative factors.

The first step is the determination of the amounts used for planning purposes as follows.

The determination of materiality requires professional judgment and is based on a combination of quantitative and qualitative assessments including the nature of account balances and financial statement disclosures.

Materiality determination	Comments	Amount
Metrics	Based off of total revenue	$26M
Benchmark	Based on prior year balance	$26M
Materiality	Determined to plan and perform the audit and to evaluate the effects of identified misstatements on the audit and of any uncorrected misstatements on the financial statements. The corresponding amount for the prior year's audit was $650,000.	$650,000
% of Benchmark	Typically between the range of 1-3%	2.5%
Performance materiality	Used 75% of materiality, and used primarily to determine the nature, timing and extent of audit procedures.	$485,000
Audit Misstatement Posting Threshold (AMPT)	Threshold used to accumulate misstatements identified during the audit. Reclassification audit misstatement posting threshold has been set at $90,000	$32,000

Value for fees

The value of our audit services

We recognize that the primary objective of our engagement is the completion of an audit of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with professional standards. We also believe that our role as external auditor of the Health Unit and the access to information and people in conjunction with our audit procedures, place us in a position to provide other forms of value. We know that you expect this of us.

We want to ensure we understand your expectations. To facilitate a discussion (either in the upcoming meeting or in separate discussions), we have outlined some of the attributes of our team and our processes that we believe enhance the value of our audit service. We recognize that certain of these items are necessary components of a rigorous audit. We welcome your feedback.

- Extensive industry experience on our audit team – as outlined in our team summary, the senior members of our team have extensive experience in audits of municipal clients and municipally owned businesses. This experience ensures that we are well positioned to identify and discuss observations and insights that are important to you;

Value for fees

In determining the fees for our services, we have considered the nature, extent and timing of our planned audit procedures as described above. Our fees for the 2017 audit will be in accordance with our quoted fees in the most recent proposal for external audit services.

Matters that could impact our fee

The proposed fees outlined above are based on the assumptions described in the engagement letter.

The critical assumptions, and factors that cause a change in our fees, include:

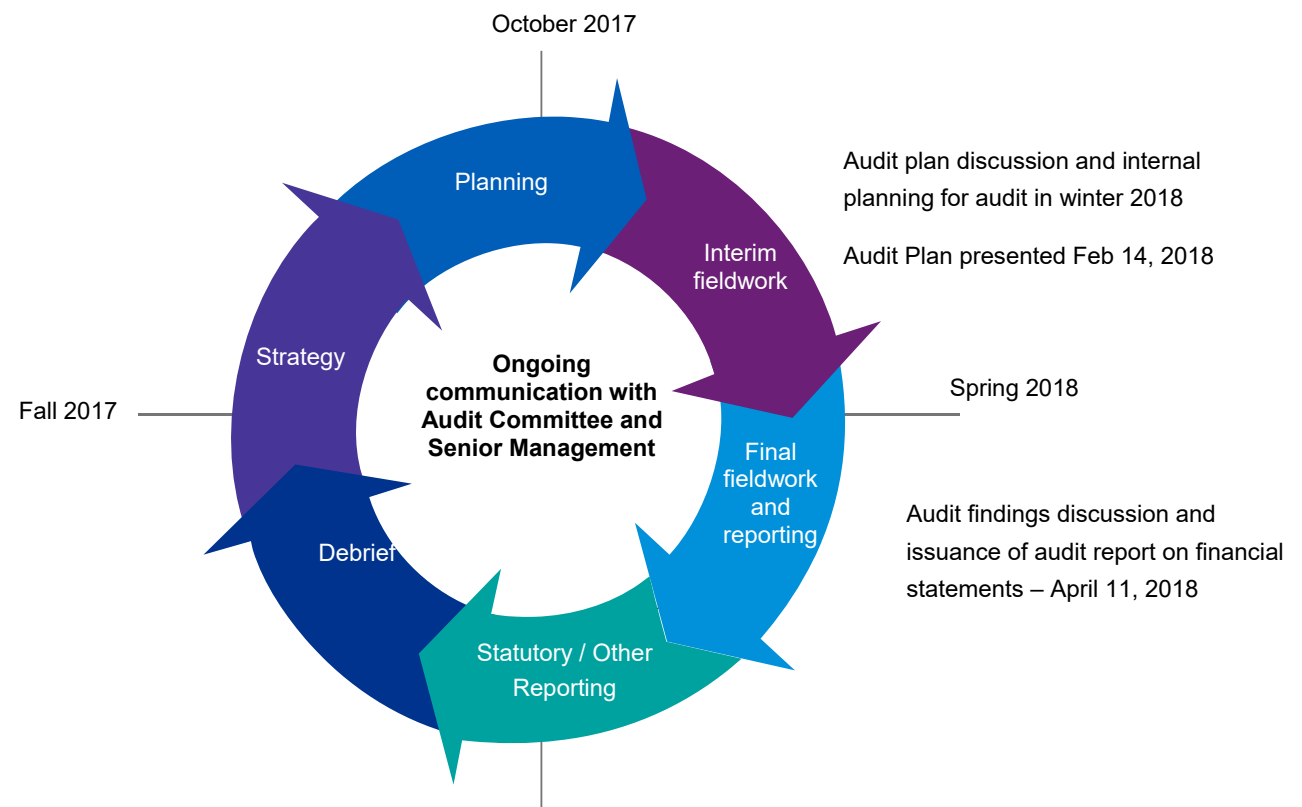

- Significant changes in the nature or size of the operations of the Company beyond those contemplated in our planning processes;
- Changes in professional standards or requirements arising as a result of changes in professional standards or the interpretation thereof;
- Changes in the time of our work;

Audit cycle and timetable

Our key activities during the year are designed to achieve our one principal objective:

To provide a robust audit, efficiently delivered by a high quality team focused on key issues.

Our timeline is in line with prior year, with significant risks taken into account during planning.

Appendix 1: Audit quality and risk management

KPMG maintains a system of quality control designed to reflect our drive and determination to deliver independent, unbiased advice and opinions, and also meet the requirements of Canadian professional standards.

Quality control is fundamental to our business and is the responsibility of every partner and employee. The following diagram summarises the six key elements of our quality control systems.

Visit our Audit Quality Resources page for more information including access to our audit quality report, Audit quality: Our hands-on process.

- Other controls include:
 - Technical department and specialist resources provide real-time support to audit teams in the field.
- We conduct regular reviews of engagements and partners. Review teams are independent and the work of every audit partner is reviewed at least once every three years.
- We have policies and guidance to ensure that work performed by engagement personnel meets applicable professional standards, regulatory requirements and the firm's standards of quality.

- All KPMG partners and staff are required to act with integrity and objectivity and comply with applicable laws, regulations and professional standards at all times.
- We do not offer services that would impair our independence.
- The processes we employ to help retain and develop people include:
 - Assignment based on skills and experience;
 - Rotation of partners;
 - Performance evaluation;
 - Development and training; and
 - Appropriate supervision and coaching.
- We have policies and procedures for deciding whether to accept or continue a client relationship or to perform a specific engagement for that client.
- Existing audit relationships are reviewed annually and evaluated to identify instances where we should discontinue our professional association with the client.
